

CENTENNIAL OF OLD CATHEDRAL

Celebration At Primal Seat Of American Heirarchy In Roman Catholic Church.

IMPOSING CEREMONIES TOMORROW

Majority Of Notable Clergymen Of High Rank Registered
At Baltimore Hotels--Messmer To Sing
Solemn Pontifical Vespers.

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.]

Baltimore, Md., April 28.—The registers of the leading Baltimore hotels
today read like a directory of the Roman Catholic church in America.
Page after page of the registers is filled with the names of archbishops, bishops and monsignors, abbots and leaders of the various ecclesiastical orders, all of whom have come to attend tomorrow's celebration of the centenary of the laying of the cornerstone of the old Baltimore cathedral,
the seat of the primacy of the American hierarchy, the great hall of legislation for the church in the United States.

Most Notable Since '84.

The gathering of prelates is the most notable this country has seen since the last plenary council, which was held in Baltimore in 1884. While a large number of visitors have found accommodations at the hotels, many others are being entertained by private families. For more than a year plans for the celebration have been in preparation and those who have the affair in hand have been occupying all their spare time in arranging the tremendous amount of detail necessary to its successful culmination. The ceremonies will be characterized by impressive solemnity and magnificence that will fittingly lay claim to comparison with some of the splendid events that have given fame to St. Peter's at Rome.

Imposing Procession.

The program of the celebration will begin with an imposing procession of the priests and prelates around the cathedral block, tomorrow morning.
The line of march has been extended to allow the thousands who will strive to see the distinguished churchmen plenty of opportunity. The order of the procession will be as follows: Assistant Master of Ceremonies and Cross-Bearer, Processional Cross-Bearer, Cathedral Sanctuary Boys Sculp-tarians, Regulars in Habit of their Order, Reverend and Very Reverend Clergy, Archiepiscopal Cross-Bearer attended by Acolytes, Members of the Faculty of the Catholic University
Monsignor, Right Reverend Abbots, Right Reverend Auxiliary Bishops, Right Reverend Vicars, Apostolic
Right Reverend Bishops, Most Reverend Coadjutor Archbishops, Most Reverend Archbishops, His Excellency and Attendants, His Eminence Cardinal
James Gibbons and Attendants.

Other Events of the Day.

In the sanctuary, vested in the capania magna, the Cardinal will occupy his throne, and directly opposite, also occupying a throne, will be the Apostolic Delegate. He will be similarly arrayed in vestments. Between the two thrones and high altar will be the archbishops, bishops and abbots, while the monsignor will be seated on the gospel side in front of the Cardinal's throne along the sanctuary railing. Members of the faculty of the Catholic university will be placed on the epistle side near the sanctuary railing. Archbishop J. M. Farley, D.
D., of New York, will sing the solemn pontifical mass, and after this celebration his Grace, the venerable Archbishop P. J. Ryan, D. D., of Philadelphia, will preach. At the end of the ceremony the recessional will be in reverse of the processional, but the same route will be used. The start of the evening procession will be from the Cardinal's residence, and the route
within the cathedral grounds used.
His Grace Most Reverend S. G. Mess-
mer, D. D., Archbishop of Milwaukee, will sing the solemn pontifical vespers
at 8 o'clock and the sermon will be delivered by Archbishop J. J. Gle-nion, D. D., of St. Louis. The Cardinal will officiate at the benediction of the blessed sacrament.

Receptions on Monday.

During Monday a number of informal receptions will be held among the many visitors and their friends. The main social event, however, will be that council only fourteen survive.

UNOFFICIAL TABLE FOR THE ATHLETES

Coach O'Dea Takes His Hand at Construction of Faculty's Late Orders.

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.]

Madison, Wis., April 28.—Training tables for the "stall feeding" of athletes has been officially banned at the University of Wisconsin, in accordance with the action taken by the western inter-collegiate faculty athletic conference, but Coach Andrew M. O'Dea, head of the crew department, is maintaining a training table
that answers all the purposes of the old and now disallowed system of feeding. He has the crew candidates boarding together at a restaurant,
each paying special additional rates
and the table being furnished with the bill of fare that used to prevail at the university training table. The faculty, it is said, will not interfere, because Coach O'Dea is particularly desirous that the badger oarsmen make a creditable showing in the annual eastern regatta on the Hudson river at Poughkeepsie in June, this being his last season here as aquatic coach, and he believes that a good showing against the highly trained and carefully fed eastern oarsmen
would be impossible if the Wisconsin
men were to eat of the highly pastry-filled menu of the ordinary boarding-house. The work of preparing the crew is progressing satisfactorily
with the help of "the beautiful youth."

Nearly all the leading journals of London took occasion today to print
eulogies of Miss Terry in their columns, while the Saturday reviews all contain pictorial write-ups of the famous actress and her career. The most eminent members of the theatrical profession in the United Kingdom,
together with Charles Frohman
and other foremost representatives of the stage in America, have joined in the arrangements for the theatrical performance at the Court Theatre tonight in honor of Miss Terry.
"The Merry Wives of Windsor" is the play selected. Miss Terry will act as Mistress Page, and Mr. Beer-ham Tree, Faftaf. Tomorrow evening admiring Londoners will give Miss Terry a dinner and the occasion will probably be taken to present her with the testimonial fund raised by popular subscription.

Royal Congratulations.

King Edward and Queen Alexandra were among those sending their congratulations and good wishes to Miss Terry today. Other felicitous messages of greeting poured in by cable, post and special messenger from famous people the world over, among them the leading players of America and Europe.

Miss Terry, at present is enjoying good health and stated today that she had no intention to leave the stage and none to revisit America, though her previous visits on the other side of the Atlantic are among her fondest recollections.

Famous Twenty-five Years.

For a quarter of a century Miss Terry has been regarded as one of the renowned actresses of the day.
Her fame was won chiefly while she was the acting partner of the late Sir Henry Irving. She was born
February 27, 1848, and was christened
Ellen Alice. She was but eight years of age when she first appeared on the stage. Later she appeared with a company in which were the present
Mrs. Kendal and Henrietta Hodgson, now the wife of Henry Labouchere,
the famous editor of Truth. Her first appearance with Irving was as Katherine in "The Taming of the Shrew."
Miss Terry's first husband was G. F.
Watts, the renowned painter, who died in 1904, but after ten years the marriage was dissolved. Her second husband, Mr. Wardell, whose stage name was Charles Kelly, died in 1885.

GOLDEN JUBILEE OF ELLEN TERRY

STATE UNIVERSITY NOT REPRESENTED

Honors of West at Philadelphia Relief Carnival Being Upheld By Michigan and Chicago.

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.]

Philadelphia, Pa., April 28.—Before thousands of persons that filled the grandstands at Franklin Field, the flower of the American college athletes met this afternoon under the auspices of the University of Pennsylvania, in the twelfth annual carnival of track and field sports. The entry list was an exceptionally fine
one. More than one thousand athletes, representing 175 educational institutions, were entered to try conclusions in the various events. Two hundred and fifty teams were entered in the relay races alone. The athletes come from all points of the community. At the easterners Harvard, Cornell, Syracuse, Dartmouth, Amherst and Columbia were represented by big teams. The south was represented by the Universities of Virginia, Georgetown, North Carolina and others, while the pick of the athletes of Chicago and Michigan universities were on hand to uphold the honors of the West. In addition to these there were scores of the strongest school teams from all sections of the country. Interest centered chiefly in the four-mile relay, which promised to be a battle royal between the East and West. Michigan has won this even now three years in succession,
and last year set a new world's record.
The continued success of the Michigan distance men has stirred the eastern colleges, and this year the latter have concentrated their strength in this one event, with the sole object of lowering the colors of Michigan. In the specials, great interest centered in the high jump. In this event Pinch of Michigan, Marshall of Yale and Moffett of Pennsylvania are to fight it out for first place. All of these men have records of six feet or better. In all the other events the entry list is large and of a high-class, and it is expected that several records will go by the boards before the program of the day is concluded.

Lightning Rods.—It is getting to be a season of the year when thunderstorms are to be expected, and there is a strong desire naturally felt to do everything possible to avert damage by lightning. No other better way is known than by putting up a good lightning rod. This our citizens now have the opportunity of doing, as Mr. Thomas Hazen, an old operator from Chicago, of eleven years experience in the business, operating with Baldwin's tabular spiral form of copper, and star fitted iron rod. They are the most complete article of the kind known, and are put up in a manner hard to beat. Specimens of the rods and workmanship may be seen at the residence of Messrs. G. F. Mosley, M. C. Smith, A. M. Thompson, W. G. Roberts, and other buildings about the city. Mr. H. is stopping at the Myers House.

The original of the statue unveiled today was presented on June 14, 1899, to the city of Philadelphia on behalf of Justice C. Strawbridge by Charles Emory Smith, then postmaster general of the United States. The statue stands in front of the Philadelphia postoffice where thousands daily read the quajut and historic inscription on the pedestal: "Benjamin Franklin, 1706-1790. Venerated for Benevolence, admired for talents, esteemed for patriotism, beloved for philanthropy—Washington." The statue is nearly twice life size, measuring twelve feet from the base to the top of the head, five feet four inches in width and four feet eight inches in depth. It is a curious coincidence that when the statue was unveiled in Philadelphia, the orator of the occasion prophesied that France would some day be the recipient of a replica of the statue as a memorial to Franklin and pledge of American good will.

You are invited to take part in the bi-centennial celebration of the birth of Benjamin Franklin, patriot, diplomatist, and philosopher and at the inauguration of his statue, to be held in the city of Paris by Mr. John H. Harjes, which will take place at the Palace of the Trocadero, Friday, April 27, 1906, at 11 a. m., under the patronage of the ambassador of the United States, the members of the committee of honor, of the President and members of the committee of organization.

The statue of Benjamin Franklin which was unveiled today is a duplicate of the one in front of the Philadelphia postoffice, which is considered by many critics to be a masterpiece, and the best statue of Franklin ever made. It represents Franklin seated in his favorite arm-chair, comfortably enfolded in a dressing robe. At the side and a little to the rear of the chair is a large book, as if it had just fallen from the hands of the great scientist and diplomat. Franklin's attitude is one of repose and from the expression of his calm face there seems to shine forth those characteristics of love and kindness which did so much to endear him to the people to whom he went as the first representative of a new republic.

John J. Boyle, the sculptor, although now a resident of New York, formerly lived in Philadelphia, and was for several years a student in the Ecole des Beaux Arts in Paris. He is very well known in art circles throughout the country. In the Congressional library in Washington are his busts of Plato and Sir Francis Bacon, and specimens of his work are to be found in Lincoln park, Chicago, and Fairmont park, Philadelphia. He also contributed to the art exhibits of the Chicago World's fair, the Pan-American exposition in Buffalo and the world's fair in St. Louis.

Mccormick's Speech

Mr. McCormick said: "When my friend and compatriot, Mr. John H. Harjes, esteemed at home and abroad, informed me of his intention to present a statue of Benjamin Franklin to the city of Paris, it seemed to me that the occasion should be seized upon for a demonstration of that warm friendship which exists between the world's two great republics and for which Franklin so firmly laid the foundation. The happy coincidence of the approach of the bi-centenary of Franklin's birth opened the way for us to broaden the unveiling ceremonies into the fete which you have been asked to honor with your presence. The spontaneous and hearty co-operation of the French government has given to this fete the international character which brings into relief that chapter in Franklin's life which belongs to France as well as to the United States and which I trust will ever be held dear to the hearts of citizens of both countries.

In every land throughout the civilized world, during the year, are set apart to celebrate its advent into the ranks of independent and sovereign states, as well as the birth of the great men whose lofty character inspired the masses with admiration and confidence, and whose firm and unerring hand guided the frail ship of state through the stormy struggle for independence, or of revolution, against a tyrannical regime.

The sculptor, John J. Boyle of New York, spent two years in the execution of this work. After long study and research among portraits and busts of Franklin, he decided to use the famous Houdon head as his model. Of all the artists and sculptors who painted and modelled Franklin none knew him better than Houdon, for it was due to Franklin's influence and friendship for Houdon, that he went to America and received a commission to make his famous statue of Washington. Critics and students are agreed that the Houdon head made from life and by a man who fully appreciated and was devoted to Franklin, is the truest and most re-before for the cause of general peace and the well-being of mankind.

The President of the United States has already shown in the most practical form and with notable success his desire to contribute to this end. In appointing a suitable person to speak for the United States on this occasion, it was therefore his purpose not only to celebrate the bi-centenary of Benjamin Franklin, and by this joint celebration link closer the ties that bind France to the United States, but with that broader aim which has found its strongest international expression in the establishment of The Hague tribunal.

In the selection of a speaker for the occasion, it was at first thought that choice be made from men in public life, but in the end all else gave way before the eminent qualifications of the gentleman who promptly responded to the call of the President to perform the unique service which devolves upon him today. His exhaustive study of the life of Franklin, his enthusiasm for the subject, and his powers as a speaker, singled him out for this service. I have the honor to present Mr. Albert Henry Smyth, special representative of the United States for the Franklin bi-centenary celebration, in Paris." Mr. Smyth then gave an excellent address.

Taxes and interest keep growing at night as well as during the day—but they need not be paid at night. The force of cumulative advertising will keep your income growing all the time—even though the money comes in only in the day-time.

So Benjamin Franklin has been remembered at last by his own nation in France.

General Funston appears to have had the bulk of glory, if glory could be obtained in Frisco while Greeley will come in for some of the good long hard tedious work.

The Beloit Free Press, still nursing a sore toe, says that grass may grow in Janesville streets when the hot weather comes. Well, perhaps that is so but it will not be half as big as that corn crop in the Free Press back yard this fall.

President Roosevelt refused foreign contributions for Frisco sufferers believing that the United States could care for its cases of necessity. Thereby he has angered some of his enemies and given the yellow journals that oppose him an opportunity to get back at his "muck rake" speech.

The Milwaukee Free Press takes exception to the Gazette's attitude on state politics. The Free Press might possibly like to know that the Gazette did not ask the Free Press what to say or how to say it nor does it care one of those. "Little Tinkers Dams" what the Free Press thinks of its attitude. The Gazette has long opposed the present ring of politicians that have controlled state affairs under the dictation of one man and will continue to act as it sees fit in the matter in the future.

That would-be-moulder of public opinion, the Milwaukee Journal, takes the Gazette to task for some of its remarks. Usually the Journal is jumping from one subject to another, from one point of view to another, that it is hard to follow it, but in this case it would seem that it has a grievance. The Gazette referred to its desire to thrust the crown of governorship on Mayor Becker and the poor old Journal promptly responds with an invitation to the Gazette to remember the time it presented a candidate for governor. Yes, the Gazette does remember and also remembers the time it presented and backed other candidates that were unsuccessful that the Journal bitterly opposed. Where the Gazette has been unsuccessful once or twice the Journal has invariably been on the wrong side from Bryan all the way down.

THE CONGRESSMEN.

It appears that Janesville is too have two candidates for congress from its midst. Malcolm Jeffris on the republican ticket and Peter J. Mowat on the democratic. Between the two Janesville ought to be able to land the plum some way. Both men are well known, both are popular and in the election of either Janesville would be well honored. While the district is strongly republican and if Mr. Jeffris receives the republican nomination it possibly means his election, republican pluralities have been swept away in the past. The Gazette has announced its endorsement of Mr. Jeffris' campaign some time ago but it welcomes the possibility of Mr. Mowat's appearance in the field although he is a candidate on the opposition ticket. The Gazette believes in Mr. Jeffris' attitude on questions of national importance and advocates earnestly his nomination.

OUR SATURDAY NIGHT.

What a lesson can be taught by the disaster at San Francisco! What a real benefactor it may eventually be to the whole of humanity! Great disasters similar to the one which devastated the Pacific coast appall the world. In a city destroyed, swept away, within a few hours, three hundred thousand people homeless, starvation threatened, driven hither and thither by flames, death staring them in the face, they sent out their appeal for aid. How was it answered? Every village, every city, every state in this great country responded. Yes, not only in this country but in Europe and Asia as well. Hundreds, thousands, millions of dollars were hurried west as fast as possible to meet the demand for food and drink. Train load after train load of supplies rushed towards the Golden Gate. There was food and clothing for those bereft of all. It was a scene never before enacted in the history of this world of ours. Within twenty-four hours after the first news of the disaster was known the whole civilized world was working with a vigor and vim to help the unfortunate. Suffering thousands aided by millions of fellow human beings. It demonstrated that human life, human happiness, human comfort was nearer and dearer to the heart of the American people than anything in the world. Money came from rich and poor alike. The rich gave their thousands, the poor their dimes. It all went into one common fund. It all went for the same purpose. Rich and poor, stood shoulder to shoulder in the great crisis and suffering, the great leverer of class distinction, proved to the universe wealth does not make the man.

The facts of this awful disaster are not yet all known. We have learned of the wonderful work of the soldiers, of their bravery in daring to do their duty no matter how hard it was. One writer for a Los Angeles paper tells of the soldiers, tells of their able use of the power given them. Tells how they compelled the extortion at the bread counter to cease, relates how they helped the suffering along the rough streets. How they encouraged the fearful, aided the sick and infirm and guarded the people against themselves, driving them back from danger they did not understand. The writer says he would like to believe that the story of the soldier who shot a man pinned in a high building with flames around him, no escape possible and by his bullet ended his life already sacrificed, and saved from him minutes of agony. Awful stories of cruelty are told but when the real truth is known, when the facts are available, the world will know that thousands of lives were saved by these same boys in blue who obeyed their orders and braved death to save others.

Many of us had friends and acquaintances in the stricken city, many of us failed to hear from or of them and worried and imagined the worst. To the papers who relieved the anxiety a word of thanks should be given. There were newspapers who sought the news and sought the opportunity to exploit their own wares but the majority of the papers, the greater portion of the newspaper men and about San Francisco gave plain unvarnished facts that contained names, relieved anxious hearts and encouraged others to hope for the best. The telegraph operators who stayed at their posts long after the work of sending telegrams was more dangerous, the men who risked their lives that the world might know the awful calamity deserve credit and words of praise. They were heroes.

Out of the ruins of San Francisco will rise a greater city. From the ashes of the hotels, the warehouses, the stores will spring as it by magic—a better city than before. Western pluck and endurance backed by the capital of the world will create a metropolis on the Pacific coast that will be an honor to the country. San Francisco the mystical, with the slant eyed mongolian, with the Barbary coast, the Nob Hill, the Golden Gate park is gone. San Francisco, the Paris of America, has passed away and in its place is a body of determined men and women building working with hands and brain, a new and greater city. Rich men and poor men are eager to do their part to help

PRESS COMMENT.

Uneasy. La Crosse Tribune: It's about time to look over toward Zion City again, now.

Wants Another Horror. Marinette Eagle-Star: The world is looking to France or Russia to provide the next horror.

Lacks Real Yell Rhythm. Sheboygan Journal: Editor Mowat of Janesville is a candidate for congress. His followers will have trouble shouting his name.

Politician and Woman Alike. Atchison Globe: A politician in landing a job is very much like a woman in landing a husband. He puts in all his work before he gets the job and forgets to keep up appearances after he has it.

Not As Bad As All That. Delavan Republican: Peter J. Monat, editor and proprietor of the Janesville Recorder, and a prominent attorney, has announced himself as the democratic candidate for congress from this district.

And Personal Liberty. Chicago Record-Herald: Members of the Royal Opera Company at Berlin have been ordered to quit singing into gramophones and gramophones. This is another terrible blow at art.

Rochester Signals: "Attention!" Exchange: Rochester, N. Y., is having a heresy trial, and hopes as soon as matters become a little more settled in the vicinity of the Golden Gate to attract considerable attention.

If Not He Can Prevent It. Exchange: Senator La Follette says that if the rate bill is passed in its present form it will not quiet the rest of the people. Of course not, at least if Senator La Follette can help it.

Game Didn't Work Right. Oshkosh Northwestern: The Janesville Gazette remarks that "Politics has been 'lost' sight of in the awfulness of the quake horror." We knew something was the matter with the game, and perhaps this explains it.

Older Than "Crime of '73". Eau Claire Leader: The Minneapolis Journal points out that the railroad rate agitation began thirty-two years ago. This really goes back beyond the Wisconsin war, and, in fact, makes it an older problem than the crime of '73.

Dove of Peace is Hovering. Elkhorn Independent: Gov. Davidson's nomination papers were circulated at Whitewater last week and a page or more of names was secured. So-called half-breeds, as well as stalwarts signed the paper and our friends over there see signs of peace. Let us hope it is all true.

Hobson Gets There After All.

Exchange: It transpires that Hobson is actively worked.

Stanford's Ample Resources.

St. Louis Globe-Democrat: In addition to its original capital Stanford university has an endowment of $26,000,000, and it owns 100,000 acres of land in twenty-six counties of California. The institution will restore its buildings, revised and improved.

Unrivaled as Hint-Thrower.

Exchange: The Oshkosh Northwestern remarks that the story is told that a woman cannot throw a stone and hit a mark because she is not built that way, but when it comes to throwing a hint mere man has to take a back seat every time.

Evening Wisconsin: Discussion of the probable relocation of Chinatown is one of the phases of the widespread interest in stricken San Francisco. Thousands of tourists have visited the so-called "plague spot" of the California metropolis, and carried away souvenirs of its peculiar life. Many thousands have also visited its underground abodes of nastiness and wickedness, under the care of authorized guides. In truth, Chinatown was made an attraction for tourists the while it was denounced as a blot upon the municipal escutcheon. It was certainly unsanitary, and if half that was hinted in regard to "darkest Chinatown" were true, the ten squares in the heart of the business section of San Francisco constituted a modern Sodom or Gomorrah.

Many thousands have also visited its underground abodes of nastiness and wickedness, under the care of authorized guides. It was certainly unsanitary, and if half that was hinted in regard to "darkest Chinatown" were true, the ten squares in the heart of the business section of San Francisco constituted a modern Sodom or Gomorrah.

Chinatown is honeycombed with underground galleries and caves into which criminals disappeared and thus evaded the clutches of the law, and into which kidnapped girls and women are dragged, to be kept in bondage for the remainder of their lives. A San Franciscan now in Milwaukee says many residents of San Francisco believe that thousands of persons, mainly women, have been thus carried to a fate worse than death. If this be the case, the police of that city have a duty, now that the fire has cleared the site of Chinatown. They should explore every cellar or underground passage to its utmost corner, and ascertain whether there was any foundation for the horrid belief. The police of Boston are said to have prevented burrowing by Chinese residents by frequent inspections and by forcing removals in suspicious cases.

You say the hat cost $1,800 in Paris?"

as America's Leading Motor Car, a position which would have been impossible of attainment except as the result of Merit, Dependability and Satisfaction. The output of the Cadillac factory last year was double the output of their nearest competitor and there is nothing artificial about this success. It is the result of building cars so perfect in construction that they cannot get out of order, so simple in construction that anyone can operate them, so powerful that they will climb any hill and run as fast as anyone ought to ride, so dependable that you don't have to worry about getting home.

The first cost is the big item in buying a Cadillac. But after it's paid for, you are done. No repairs, half cent per mile for gasoline, and small depreciation. For the business man, for the physician, for any man who values his time, they will soon save their cost.

The Great Boogi of Automobiling is the Repair Man--You yourself would buy a machine but you are afraid the repairs will equal the original cost of the machine. This may be true with others, but not with the CADILLAC. We have records of many instances in which these cars have been run an entire season without the necessary outlay of a single dollar for repairs or for operating, beyond the cost of gasoline or oil.

OPPORTUNITY TO KNOW THE BIRDS

MOST NOTABLE EXHIBITION EVER SEEN IN STATE.

OPENED AT PUBLIC LIBRARY

By Halvor L. Skavlem And His Assistants—Public Invited To Inspect Them.

No such opportunity to acquire either a passing or thorough and comprehensive acquaintance with the families and species of Wisconsin birds has ever been afforded in any museum, at any time, within the history of the state, as that now offered at the public library in the city of Janesville. The hunter who has been involved in endless disputes regarding the distinctions between the ruddy duck and the canvas-back; the house-keeper who doesn't know the difference between a swallow and a chimney-swift; the old resident who has almost forgotten what a prairie-hen, or a passenger pigeon, or a wild turkey looks like; the rather careful observer who is convinced that there is no essential point of dissimilarity between a night-hawk and a whip-poor-will; the children who have learned some of the lore of the "shagpock"; the helldiver, the loon, the wild goose, and the partridge, will all be interested in the exhibition which Halvor L. Skavlem and his assistants have prepared primarily for Arbor and Bird Day, May 4, but which is now thrown open to the public and may be viewed for several days to come.

Arranged in Definite Order.

Mounted birds in glass cases, grouped haphazard and unlabeled, have about the same appeal to the average person as a millinery exhibit. But Mr. Skavlem's large collection—and the smaller one which he has obtained from Roy Pierson, are not only lined up in an open-air procession on the tops of the bookcases around three sides of the large reading room on the north, but they are also provided with their common and scientific names, grouped in their respective families, and arranged in the order of their evolution from the lower order of reptiles. Thus, the first group is that of the partially developed diving-birds with the queerly attached legs which are of practically no use on land, and wings which do not permit them to soar, and the last is that of the most highly developed feathered creatures—the so-called "perching birds"—the larks, finches, thrushes, wood-warblers, flycatchers, and orioles.

The arrangements follows exactly the grouping made in the bulletin of Wisconsin birds gotten out some years ago by the late L. Kummel, and N. Hollister. The first-named died before the work was finished, and Mr. Skavlem collaborated with Mr. Hollister in the completion of it. There are copies of this bulletin in the library and they are being used as catalogues of the exhibit by those who have already commenced a careful study of the specimens.

GRAPHIC LETTER OF SITUATIONS

PERRY F. BROWN WRITES FROM OAKLAND, CALIFORNIA.

NEW VIEW OF CONDITIONS

Tells of Work and Spirit of the People of San Francisco—Glad He Is There.

Mr. E. T. Brown this morning received the following letter from his son, Perry F. Brown, city engineer of Oakland, California, that is most interesting. Through the courtesy of Mr. Brown, the Gazette is enabled to publish it for the benefit of its readers. The letter is dated the 23d. It is as follows:

"I suppose you have heard some horrible stories about the earthquake and fire. The business and congested residence districts of San Francisco are all gone, but it is far from a destroyed city. Do you remember the big hotel on Nob hill? The burned district takes in about all of the area east of a line eight blocks west of that hotel. A large number of homeless people are leaving the city, many going to distant points, others coming to this side of the bay. All transportation companies are carrying people out of the city free and the railroads are carrying people without money as far as Portland, Ogden and El Paso. Oakland has one hundred thousand homeless San Franciscans in it and is making preparations to keep most of them six months at least. Many are lodged in private houses and other buildings and camps are being rapidly established. I have charge of the installation of water works and sewers for the military camp. There are two companies of U. S. troops in charge of the camp and they expect to accommodate ten thousand people. Thanks to the outside people nobody need go hungry, as the supplies are coming in rapidly for the relief work and the dealers are charging no more than the usual prices for food or merchandise. This latter may be partly due to martial law as any one found charging more than the usual price for any thing has his stock confiscated. Eggs are cheaper than they were before the trouble, now twenty cents a dozen. Although many think this is a severe blow the general sentiment is that San Francisco will become a better and more modern city and in five years will consider this a Godsend."

"We will never know how many people lost their lives—probably one thousand, one-half due to the earthquake, the rest to the fire, as they were slow to leave the burning district, many having to be driven out by the police and troops. The loss was in the old brick lodging-houses chiefly. None of the modern buildings were harmed by the earthquake or fire. Their contents were burned but the buildings are as good as ever. I would like to see some of the accounts in the eastern papers. If you have any old papers giving the first news that you don't want send them to me. Unlike many people I am glad I am here."

RIGHT AS TO CREED

Dr. Crapsey Upholds Position Before Court.

GIVES VIEWS ON THE TRINITY

Declares He Did Not Deny the Principle, Simply Holding There Is One God—Discussion Along Theological Lines.

Batavia, N. Y., April 28.—The interest in the heresy trial of Dr. Algren Crapsey, of Rochester, has centered in the final argument. An unexpected feature Friday was the answer of Dr. Crapsey to the original presentation. This was read by Congressman Perkins, of counsel for the accused. It is the only time Dr. Crapsey has said anything in his own defense.

The morning session Friday was given over to a short explanation of the position of the prosecution by Franklin D. Locks, of Buffalo, and to an address by Congressman Perkins for the defense. The discussion during the afternoon was entirely a theological one, being limited to an address by the Rev. Dr. Elwood Worcester, of Boston, for the defense; an address by the Rev. Francis J. Hall, of Chicago, for the prosecution and the final address by Samuel McComb, of Boston, for the defense.

Statement by Defendant.

The statement written by Dr. Crapsey and read by Mr. Perkins was a reply of the accused man to the presentment brought against him.

"I claim," said Dr. Crapsey, "that from the day that I assumed the authority to preach the word of God I have been diligent in the study of the holy scriptures and have based all my teaching upon them."

"Quoting the Apostles' Creed, Dr. Crapsey declared that he said it daily from his heart. He continued:

"If it be charged against me that I do not give to the creed the same interpretation that some other men have given it, I claim that I do give it that interpretation that is most consistent with the whole tone and teaching of the holy scriptures, and also most in accord with the ways of God as I have learned these ways of His from my study of their manifestations in His outward works and in my own inward nature."

"It has been asserted that I deny the doctrine of the Holy Trinity. There are not three Gods, but there is one, and the Trinity is the unfolding of the one, not the addition of three, to make one."

Tunis Natives in Revolt.

they were married. In those years the wife had been a veritable helpmeet, and friends say they had seemed most happily mated.

Mrs. Muenter's death probably was caused by the administration of arsenic. Muenter, latterly, has shown symptoms of dementia, the result of overwork and overstrain.

Both he and his wife were strong adherents of the faith cure cult and her attendants at her last illness—childbirth—were faith healers.

Before his wife's death, Muenter was plainly overworked. Afterward he wrote several letters which indicated his mind probably was unbalanced.

GREEKS HISS AMERICAN ATHLETES IN STADIUM

Audience Forgets Courtesy Due to Visits When Home Favorites Are Beaten by Foreigners.

Athens, April 28.—The continued success of the American athletes in the Olympic games is causing some ill feeling among the Greeks, although on the whole an excellent temper has been displayed by the competitors and spectators.

A few of the latter, however, have not been able to conceal their feelings, and some hisses were heard Friday. James F. Sullivan, manager of the American team, made light of the matter in speaking of it and said there was nothing at which to take umbrage. He said he was quite satisfied with the cordiality exhibited by all concerned.

Friday was a busy day. The expectation that the aquatic events would be concluded was not realized, owing to a wind springing up at noon which made the sea choppy and many of the events had to be postponed. At the Stadium the interest was well maintained, but the attendance, though large, was less than on previous days. The Americans again figured prominently in the day's results.

The final in the 100-meter contest was captured by Archie Hahn, the sprinter of the Milwaukee Athletic club. His time was 11.15 seconds. Fay R. Moulton, of the Kansas City Athletic association, finished second, and Barker, an Australian, was third.

In the 400-meter swimming race here Friday Scheff, Austria, was first; H. Taylor, England, second, and J. A. Jarvis, England, was third.

The first heat of the 1,500-meter race was won by James D. Lightbody, of Chicago university. Time, 4 minutes 19.2 seconds.

Hellestholm, Sweden, was second; James P. Sullivan, Irish-American A. C., New York, was third.

In throwing the stone, Giorgantas, Greece, was first. Distance, 19 meters 92½ centimeters. Martin J. Sheridan, Irish-American A. C., New York, was second, and Dorizas, Greece, was third.

In the running long jump, Mayer Prinstein, Irish-American A. C., New York, was first; P. O'Connor, England, second.

Hugo Friend, Chicago A. A., was third. Prinstein slightly hurt his foot.

In the single-handed weight lifting Steinbach, Austria, won.

M. J. Sheridan, Irish-American A. C., won in throwing the weight. David Hungarian, second; Lemming, Swede, third.

The following qualified in the semi-finals of the 400 metres race for the finals Saturday: H. L. Hillman, Jr., N. Y. A. C.; P. H. Pilgrim, N. Y. A. C.; Barker, Australia; Lieut. W. Halswell, England; C. J. Bacon, Irish-American A. C.; F. R. Moulton, K. C. A.A.

MINE WAR CERTAIN

Reply of Operators Looked Upon as Challenge.

MITCHELL IS DISAPPOINTED

Employers' Answer Is Not What He Expected—Feeling Prevails That Men Have Reached Limit in Concessions.

Scranton, Pa., April 28.—It is the general impression here that the operators' answer was intended to provoke a strike and that it will succeed in its intention. While President Mitchell would give out nothing for publication, the ejaculations he made while reading the answer as it was received over the press-wire would tend to indicate that he was sorely disappointed and that he would be disposed to take up the constructive challenge that might be read in the operators' answer.

If the situation remains unchanged next Thursday, when the delegate convention of miners takes place here, it is taken for granted by the people of this region that the delegates will declare the suspension of a strike. The proposition of the miners sent to the operators was the limit to which the scale committee was disposed to go.

The answer of the operators rejecting this ultimate proposition means war, according to the prevalent opinion here.

Text of the Reply.

Addressing President Mitchell and others of the miners' subcommittee the operators say:

"We observe that you reject our proposition of arbitration by the strike commission. You speak of it as a suggestion that we first arbitrate to ascertain whether there is anything to arbitrate, and then restrict within narrow limits the scope of the investigation." This statement of the proposition is erroneous. Our offer was to submit to the members of the strike commission the question whether any changes in conditions have occurred since the award of the commission requiring that the award should be so modified as to wages and adjustment of complaints, and, if so, how it should be changed. You will observe, therefore, that your statement was definitely inaccurate. This proposition was in accordance with the view which we have constantly urged that the award of the commission should be deemed conclusive as to any facts or issues within its scope, and that any further arbitration should be supplementary to that award rather than a retrial of all such facts and issues. It is clear that this procedure would tend to dignify and strengthen the process of arbitration rather than, as you suggest, bring it into dispute and ridicule." The latter result would follow if arbitration should never be regarded as final, but simply as a basis for further endless controversy. We regret, therefore, that you should have rejected what would clearly be the fair and logical course regarding any arbitration in the premises.

Agreement for Three Years.

Your letter contains nothing definite with reference to the duration of the arrangements which you propose. It suggests that the same continue for a period to be mutually determined by our joint committees. We have already twice stated that in the interests of the industry and of the public any result now reached should continue for a period of three years. This was the period fixed in the submission to the strike commission for the purpose of avoiding constant disturbance in the industry and in the present case, as we have already suggested, it is desirable that the political considerations incident to a presidential campaign may have as little influence as possible on these business questions.

We observe that, as you suggest, you have abandoned all the various demands contained in your original communication and that your present propositions differ entirely therefrom and concern merely the matter of wages. These propositions seem to be based upon the impression that wages in the anthracite industry are unduly low. Even before the advances which were made by its award, the strike commission found to the contrary. Moreover, it is established by figures contained in the report of the secretary of internal affairs of the state of Pennsylvania for 1904, that the average yearly earnings of all classes of anthracite mine workers are much greater than those of the bituminous employees in that state. Inasmuch as the two industries are so largely competitive, the disparity of wages cannot safely be further increased."

Profit Only 20 Cents.

The operators, after giving figures in detail, say that to accept the sliding scale of wages proposed by the miners would mean an increase in the price of coal to the public of 36 cents a ton.

The present profit to the operators,

they say, is but 20 cents a ton.

The conditions which have prevailed under the award of the strike commission have been as satisfactory as could be anticipated, in view of the magnitude of the industry. In one of his addresses last summer your chairman was said to have stated that 'at no time in the last 30 years have the wage earnings of the miners been as fair as they are now.' In view of all the circumstances we are satisfied that the true course was indicated in our original proposition. This was that the existing conditions should be continued for a period of three years.
